

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A device for kneading and/or spreading dough includes a base member having a semi-circular configuration. Shaped handles are disposed at each end of the base member. A user applies pressure alternatively to each handle to produce a rocking motion to knead and spread dough into a desired shape.

FOOTNOTES